Sign in for your shift

Use the camera at a supported Aldelo Express station to identify an enrolled employee and apply their assigned permissions.

01 Prepare staff access

Confirm the supported camera, assign the employee's role and review notice, consent and retention requirements before enrollment. Arrange a fallback sign-in method with Aldelo.

02 Face the camera

Once enrolled, use facial login at the supported station. The camera captures facial features and the system compares them with the enrolled employee record.

03 Use your assigned role

After a match, staff can use their assigned POS and time-card functions. An employee with manager permission can authorize actions such as a void or discount.

At the counter

Employees sign in under their own identity at a shared POS station.

Payment processing

For U.S. card payments, choose Aldelo Pay merchant services or a provider certified for the ePay gateway. Confirm which devices and payment features your account supports.
